

Thank you for all your support and enthusiasm for putting my home front and center in the new NYC&G March Issue. I am very pleased with how you, your team, and Michael handled everything in achieving a very appealing portrait of artist and home. I am very grateful. I have mainly heard back from your more uptown target audience, and all responses have been very favorable. How could they not be with such a lovely spread?

Someone walked into our showroom with our ad from the magazine looking to buy a fireplace.

Thank you, thank you for including our work in your latest issue. It looks amazing. Pops right off the page. We even had a prospective client call today!

I just wanted to take a moment and thank you for the beautiful spread. Thank you for believing in me and giving me this dream opportunity. I truly feel inspired by you and your magazine. You have reminded everyone that design goes deeper into our souls and I couldn't be more grateful.

We just wanted to email to say how thrilled we are with the feature! We have yet to see the print copy, but the online version is really making the rounds on Pinterest, Twitter, Facebook & Instagram! We are getting tons of great feedback and can't thank you enough for highlighting our work.

2015 was a year that marked success with our new NYC Metro partner NYC&G and CTC&G. In addition to the strong editorial support we received from Kendell and DJ, the advertising that we ran in the CTC&G issue sold pieces directly off of the page, and helped us to simultaneously build the business and brand awareness in one of our growing product categories in a key market
